Not Loyal or True to England in War Declares Victor Herbert.

Assails John Redmond's Figures Concerning Irish in the Ranks.

People Still Regard Britain Only As Oppressor and Enemy.

TROOPS NEEDED IN IRELAND

Victor Herbert, the noted composer and bandmaster, President of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick of New York City, and one of the chief participants in the recent Irish race convention, has issued the following statement in regard to Ireland's position in the present war:

On the memorable night in 1914, after the opening of the war, when John Redmond rose in the House of Commons and promised the support of the Irish people to England in this war, he in reality abdicated the position he had held for some years as the spokesman of Ireland. He came out in his true colors as a British Imperialist and a man to whom the welfare of England was dearer and closer than is the liberty of Ireland. The truth is that Redmond has long ceased to be an Irishman in everything but name. His antecedents, his early training, his social surroundings and environment, his long association with Englishmen and English movements—and latterly his interests—all draw him in the direction of England. They have made him a convert to the belief that the preservation of the British Empire is a vital necessity to mankind and that Ireland must be content to play a very subordinate part in it in order that there may be no disorganization within the empire and no interference with the Anglo-Saxon dream of governing the world.

He has of late years become obsessed with the notion of English might and power. Living in the center of her empire he has been so impressed with her numbers and area as to confound them with real strength. He has not seen, as have so many thoughtful observers throughout the world, the cankers eating away at her vitals and the decay which has been sapping her energy and her power. Therefore at the outbreak of the war it seemed to him inevitable that England and her mighty allies must conquer in the strife against the Central Powers. Without stopping to consult with the opinions, the sentiments or the interests of the Irish people, without even, it is said, consulting with his associate members of Parliament, he staked all upon his belief in the invincibility of England. He committed Ireland—as far as he could—to a policy which would have made her forget the past and forego her rights, and have bound her more closely than ever to the chariot wheels of a triumphant and remorseless England.

But Redmond failed to take into account either the true strength of the Central Powers or the depth and intensity of Ireland's love of liberty and hatred of oppression. He believed, in common with the other English leaders, that Berlin and Vienna would be captured within a few weeks after the beginning of the war, and that Germany and Austria must speedily succumb to the unprecedented combination of forces made against them. How greatly he and they erred is known even to the ordinary observer here in America in spite of all that the overworked censor can do to misrepresent the truth and to turn Allied defeat and reverses into victory and triumph. The months that have passed have shown only one triumph after another for the Central Powers and today we see them upon the soil of their enemies winning victory after victory and advancing from one triumph to another.

But it was with relation to Ireland that Redmond was most wrong and that his judgment was the least of all based upon facts. Colored as his views had become toward England he failed to grasp the fact that the mass of the Irish people—following in the footsteps of the generations that had preceded them—cling tenaciously to their ideas of nationality and their love of liberty and could not be calmed any more than they could be forced to regard England as other than a tyrant and an oppressor whose rule was to be borne while it must be, but was to be thrown off as soon as possible and whenever God given opportunity would enable the men of Ireland to do so.

Certainly Mr. Redmond had read Irish history to little effect if he did not realize the saying of Wolfe Tone that "the connection between England and Ireland was the curse of Ireland" had sunk into the very heart of the Irish nation and was one of the most cherished beliefs of the mass of the people. He hurried to Ireland in his new armor, made himself the chief recruiting sergeant of the King in a mad attempt to get the young men of Ireland to go out to fight in Flanders or Gallipoli. He has failed most ignominiously even in his effort to turn Ireland into a conquered province of England and have her take her place with the Allies of England in this war of attempted extermination against peoples and nations that have never injured Ireland or wronged or oppressed Irish men.

A month ago he claimed 350,000 Irishmen had joined the English colors. Driven from that absurdity by the showing up of the official figures he reduced that number last Sunday to 150,000. As matter of fact, he is still more than 50,000 above the official figures. When one takes into account the means resorted to in Ireland to drive men out of employment so they may have no choice but to enlist; the campaign of abuse and misrepresentation unblushingly carried on by the Government in Ireland to arouse the passions of the people and the existence in Ireland of that large portion of the people who represent what is known as the permanent garrison of the country, the result is quite negligible.

It shows conclusively that the people are true to their old ideals and will have none of Redmond and his new doctrine of trusting to the justice of England because England is now in a desperate situation fighting for her very life and ready to make any promise which will not require immediate paring with that control over Ireland which she regards as the very breath of her life and the deprivation of which would mean her certain reduction to the position of Holland or of Spain. Ireland today, Redmond to the contrary notwithstanding, is not with England in this great war. The great mass of the people realize that it is England's and not Ireland's war. They have no love for England or for English methods or theories of government. They have nothing but hatred and hostility for English government. They have a burning desire to see English power destroyed and driven out of Ireland, not partially or temporarily, but fully and for all time.

England has labored to shut Ireland off from the rest of the world, to keep out all news from the outside and to prevent any information from Ireland reaching the outside world, and particularly from reaching America. But in spite of a measure of success in this work, she has largely failed, and news has been going into and coming out of Ireland during the whole course of the war. This has enabled us to know with certainty that Ireland is not in any sense of the word loyal to England. If she were so it would not be necessary to suppress, as England has suppressed, more than a dozen newspapers. It would not be necessary to make arrests in every corner of Ireland under the defense of the realm act, and to summarily drive men out of their country without written charges or even the force of a trial.

It would not be necessary to break up meetings, interfere with gatherings of the Irish volunteers, arrest and imprison men in three of the provinces for possessing arms, as fourth. And, more than all, when England and her allies are in such dire need of men at the front, to keep in Ireland the huge army of occupation, which shows that England still regards Ireland as a conquered country and not as a contented, loyal and satisfied English shire. The best qualified and clearest minds in Ireland recognize that victory for England in this war means an unportable burden of taxation for Ireland as her portion of "the victory." Probably in no other way could Redmond be shown to be more completely out of touch with Ireland than in his position on the question of increased taxation which is now agitating Ireland from Cape Clear to the Glenties Causeway.

KING OF GREECE.
MOURN HER DEATH.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Brennan Hudgins took place from the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Brennan, of 1212 South Sixth street, last Saturday morning at 10:15 o'clock and from St. Louis Borromeo church at 10:30 o'clock. During the last year Mrs. Hudgins lived in Indianapolis, where her husband, Jacob P. Hudgins, was connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, but she was a native of Louisville, being reared in the Dominican parish, where she took a prominent part in social and parish affairs, her joyous and fun loving disposition winning many friends among both the young and old, and this was attested to by the constant stream of friends who called at the family home to review the remains and pray for the repose of her soul. Besides her husband she is survived by an infant child, six brothers, John M. William, Thomas, Edward, Raymond and Bertrand Brennan, and four sisters, Misses Anna and Alice Brennan, Mrs. Charles E. Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Selby Peak.

EXPLAINED

The Slaying of Priests in Their Churches During Present Conflict.

Moderate and Just Statement of Prof. Aloys Schulte of Brown University.

Actions Extreme in Appearance Carried Out in Good Faith.

TWO EXTREMES IN THE CASE

During the present great war in Europe priests have been slain in their churches by the invading soldiery. Much bitter controversy has been created thereby. In France and Belgium it is charged that this was but one of a series of premeditated brutalities coolly planned by the German invaders. In Germany it is said, on the other hand, that the number of priests who were slain has been greatly exaggerated and that those who were thus killed were illegitimately engaged in assisting the enemy and thus deserved the fate which was allotted to them. In the former countries it is maintained that Protestant troops were especially chosen to enter Belgium in order the more thoroughly to wreak vengeance on the conquered people. This is emphatically denied by the Germans.

A more moderate and just explanation of the whole matter is given by Prof. Aloys Schulte, of the University of Bonn, a noted historian and a Catholic. In a recent issue of the International Monthly Review for Science, Art and Technique, Prof. Schulte says:

"In times of war in all countries only one rule is recognized, all without exception are bound to obey the laws promulgated by the military authority. Church servants who are not strictly connected with their parish church naturally escape the suspicion of the enemy. To the Protestant preacher and the rabbi church or synagogue are a house for prayer; their use is confined to one day in a week. Preacher and rabbi very often wear a dress that prevents their being recognized as such. The relation of the Catholic pastor to his church is much closer; he there holds his religious services every day, there the Blessed Sacrament is kept. If he wishes to go to the sick or wounded to bring them the Viaticum he must first visit the church and afterward return to it. The Protestant pastor or the rabbi is not forced to go to the church building while the combat is going on, but the Catholic priest must remove the Blessed Sacrament from the altar to save it from disturbance and must conceal it. He can be easily recognized by his attire.

"We therefore can readily understand in the first place that an invading enemy more frequently meets a Catholic priest in the church building than a Protestant minister. If the alien soldiery are storming a church tower to destroy the rifle machine which has been placed there, almost certain destruction is due to the pastor who happens at such a time to leave the church. Can it not be clearly seen how the soldiers would in such an instance act in good faith and at the same time perhaps slay an absolutely innocent man?"

It is always well in matters such as these to take into consideration the whole circumstances in a case. In war many things occur which in ordinary life would be impossible. The situation of the invading army in the instance mentioned here can readily be grasped. It can certainly be seen how its actions might be extreme in appearance and yet be carried out entirely in good faith, as stated by Prof. Schulte. C. B. of C. V.

ROOSEVELT

Indorsed by a Local Supporter in Typical Rooseveltian Terms.

Rough Rider Has Bluffed and Bull-Dozed G. O. P. For Nomination.

Alkie Bryan Will Receive Plenty of Cheer and Huzzas But No Votes.

STATE DEMOCRATS IN HARMONY

A typical example of the Roosevelt booster is shown in the Louisville Herald of Thursday morning in the published statement of Matt Holt, a Bull Moose leader, the statement being one of a series being run by the Herald telling the people why Roosevelt is needed as President. The headline, to start with, was misleading, it reading, "Says Country Calls for Roosevelt." The article doesn't tell what they are calling him a "four flusher," "blusterer," "fake fire-eater," and even other things too rough to print. Rooseveltian style is shown in one of the expressions used by his local follower:

"We will have as President a real man with red blood in his veins. The United States will no longer eat dirt. Let us have Roosevelt and no pussyfooting."

The Rough Rider himself could hardly improve on that rather inelegant suggestion about the "United States eating dirt." Further along Mr. Holt shows himself to be a humorist when he stated that Theodore Roosevelt, "courting popularity of the most violent kind, has led America to the verge of a great change, less commercialism, and an awakened patriotism." Can you imagine Teddy courting unpopularity—the greatest self-advertiser and grandstand player the world has ever known?

Roosevelt blustering and bluffing tactics are shown in the way he has bulldozed and bluffed the old line leaders in the Republican party—he having told them "you'll take me or a third party opposition again"—the bluff having worked to perfection, and it is pretty near all over but the shouting. The Rough Rider will be given the nomination in the Chicago convention to the accompaniment of a lot of horse play and flag waving, with specially trained cowboys from the wild and woolly West to whoop 'em up through the proceedings.

To the credit of the majority of the Republicans they see through Roosevelt's tactics and know him for what he is—a player to the galleries and a press agent (for himself) all the year around. But the Progressives for the most part are composed of the gullible kind who swallow all of that bunk and can be depended upon at any time to work themselves into a frenzy at the mention of the name of their idol. They will be found in great numbers at Chicago going around wild-eyed, furnishing an inexhaustible supply of enthusiasm for the promotion of their favorite. Very few of this class of people ever take a conservative view of anything and they are easy marks for popular fakes of the Manchus type, the mysterious giant of Baraboo & Balley—in other words they come under the head of those whom Abraham Lincoln said, "You could fool all of the time."

With the nomination of Roosevelt the American people will witness another repetition of the Bryan campaigns of 1896 and 1900. Roosevelt will tour the country, making fiery speeches, breathing brimstone and fire against all of the other nations of the world, and as in Bryan's case he will be cheered by millions, but again as in Bryan's case these millions somehow or another will vote the other way on election day. In Bryan's case if everyone that cheered him had voted the Democratic ticket his majority would have been too big to count. This also applies to Roosevelt. When he rushes down to the FEAST OF ST. PAUL.

Next Monday the feast of St. Paul of the Cross, transferred this year from April 28 to May 1 because of the late coming of Easter, will be observed with great solemnity at the Passionist Retreat on the Newburg road. The masses will be at 5:30, 6:30, 7 and 10 o'clock, the last a solemn high mass, at which the Rev. Father Charles Maddox, a noted Redemptorist priest, will preach the panegyric. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be solemn vespers, the sermon to be preached by the Very Rev. Cletus Brady, rector of the monastery. Beginning after the high mass and during the day the blessing with the relic of St. Paul of the Cross will be given. Many will be interested to learn that the Portiuncula indulgence may be gained at each separate visit to the church beginning at 3 p. m. on Sunday, the vigil of the feast, the usual condition of confession and communion to be complied with. The ladies of the parish will serve coffee and sandwiches free at noon time. All friends of the Passionist fathers are cordially invited to help in the suitable celebration of this year's feast of the Passionist order.

RECENT DEATHS.

The funeral of Theodore Howe, for many years a resident of St. Peter's parish, was held Tuesday morning, attended by many friends and relatives. He was fifty-eight years of age and unmarried. Two brothers, John and Frank Howe, survive him.

Early Monday morning death claimed Harry T. Murphy, son of Mrs. Frances and the late George Murphy. The deceased was nineteen years old and a popular member of Mackin Council, Y. M. C. His funeral was held Wednesday morning from St. Cecilia's church.

Pneumonia proved fatal Tuesday to Thomas Smith, at his home at 2066 Portland avenue. He was for many years employed by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company and was held in high esteem by a wide circle of acquaintances. Surviving him are his wife, two sons and two daughters. The funeral was held yesterday morning at St. Patrick's church.

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Rankin, widow of Arthur Rankin, taken from St. Cecilia's church and other of its old and devout members. Her funeral was held Tuesday morning, the church being thronged by mourning friends. Surviving her are one daughter, Mrs. C. E. Purdy, with whom she lived; a son, George C. Rankin, and two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Hukins and Mrs. William Patterson.

MISSION OF IRELAND.

In a recent address Archbishop Mundelein said: "Sometimes I wonder whether God has not kept Ireland from being a nation in order that she might contribute the larger share to the growth, to the greatness, to the glory of the newer lands and newer peoples, who today form the foremost countries in the world."

HIBERNIAN DANCE.

The Hibernian Social Club and Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H., expect a large attendance to be present at the initial dance to be given at the Galt House on Monday evening. Swann's orchestra will render a dance programme of all the latest dance hits. A meeting of the two organizations will be held tomorrow afternoon at Hibernian Home, 1818 Portland avenue, and final arrangements made for the dance. In addition plans will be discussed for a series of summer entertainments to be given by the two organizations.

footlights, with the American flag wrapped about him he will hear the loud hurrahs of the people, many of whom appreciate melodrama, but the day after and on second sober thought they will be half ashamed of themselves, the result being that they will vote for Wilson, the conservative, against Roosevelt, the fire-eater. In noise demonstrations the war advocates always seem to be in the majority, but when the real count is taken the peace supporters always lead by a large majority.

Kentucky Democrats are pleased at the result of the recent peace conference among the leaders, which straightened out the tangle between the State administration, and the outlook for a harmonious convention at Lexington is very bright. It is an assured fact that Percy Haley, disturber of Democratic peace, will be on the outside looking in, and now only one more thing is needed to make it a wholesale peace party, and that is the retirement of W. B. Haldean from the contest for National Committeeman. District conventions will be held Saturday afternoon, May 20, and the convention will be called in Lexington on Wednesday, May 24. The State convention will choose four delegates from the State at large, or maybe eight, with a half of vote each, and two delegates from each of the eleven districts. Senators James and Beckham, Gov. Stanley, ex-Senator Camden, ex-Gov. McCrory, Judge Allie Young, Mayor Buschmeyer and Congressman Cantrill will be the eight if eight are chosen, while Col. James P. Whalen and Col. John J. Barry will be the two from the Fifth district.

HOLY NAME SMOKER.

The Holy Name Society of St. Louis Bertrand's church held one of their series of smokers Tuesday evening in Bertrand Hall, A. J. Chapelle giving his illustrated lecture on the national forces of the United States, the relative strength of the army and navy belag compared to that of the other leading powers. The lecture was much enjoyed by those present as the subject is a very timely one to the average male audience. Rev. J. J. Fitzgerald, pastor of St. Leo's church of Highland Park, also addressed the gathering, telling of his early experience as an altar boy in Ireland and of his continual close association with the Dominican fathers. Father Fitzgerald's address was interspersed with many little humorous anecdotes and references, which was much enjoyed by his hearers, and at the close President Harry T. Fischer and other officers of the society expressed the wish that the speaker would consent to address them in the near future with a prepared talk, and when a large attendance would be present. Rev. Father V. G. Cienry also made a short talk. Rev. Father R. G. Lyons, chaplain of the Holy Name Society, presided, and others of the clergy present were Very Rev. Father T. L. Crowley and Father J. L. Finerty.

UNIQUE WAR EXHIBIT.

A unique assortment of articles made by prisoners of war in the detention camp at Douglas, Isle of Man and Bermuda are on exhibit at the store of Hunch Bros. & Wellendorf, 522 West Market street, where they are attracting much attention. The Friends' Emergency Committee in London shipped these pieces to the Relief Committee in New York City, who forwarded some of them to the Louisville Women's Auxiliary of the German-American Alliance, of which Mrs. Louise Devredest is the head.

KING OF ROUMANIA.

There will be a solemn jubilee high mass at 10 o'clock at St. James church, Bardstown road and Edenside avenue, sung by the pastor, the Rev. E. E. Willet, who will be assisted by the Rev. Thomas White as deacon and Rev. Michael Melody as sub-deacon. In the afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock there will be a reception at their home, 1320 Bardstown road. To the worthy couple is extended the congratulations of many, with the hope that they may live to celebrate their diamond jubilee.

CONVENTION

Catholic Knights of America and Knights of Columbus Will Be Here.

Elaborate Programme Arranged For Entertainment of the Two Bodies.

Sessions Will Open With Mass and Continue For Four Days.

BISHOP O'DONAGHUE TO PREACH

The second week of May will be one of real interest to Catholics, when the triennial convention of the Catholic Knights of America and the annual State convention of the Knights of Columbus will be held in this city, opening Tuesday morning, May 9, with a solemn high mass at the Cathedral, at which the Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue will preach the sermon. Friday night the Executive Committee of the Catholic Knights of America met at St. John's Hall and completed a very elaborate programme for the event. Chairman Michael Reichert presided and Henry Bosquet announced that the Finance Committee was very successful in raising funds for the entertainment of the delegates and visitors. The music at the mass at the Cathedral will be rendered by a choir of the leading singers of Louisville. All those present at the convention will be the committees reported that their work was completed and everything in readiness for the convention. The headquarters will be at the Tyler Hotel, where the sessions will be held in the Italian room. A special committee will take charge of the visiting ladies, for whose entertainment a special programme has been prepared.

Following the mass at the Cathedral the opening session will be held in the Italian room of the Tyler Hotel, where Gen. Michael Reichert will introduce Mayor John Buschmeyer, who will deliver the address of welcome, to which Supreme President Gaudin will respond. The following officers of the organization will be present: Dr. Felix Gaudin, New Orleans, Supreme President; George F. Landwehr, Cumberland, Md., Supreme Vice President; Henry Slerner, St. Louis, Supreme Secretary; Charles F. Hannauer, St. Louis, Supreme Treasurer; Michael Quilty, Brooklyn, Adam W. Jager, Chicago, and Peter Wallrath, Evansville, Ind., Supreme Trustees.

The Catholic Knights of America was founded in 1867 in Nashville, Tenn., by Bishop Peckham. Afterward Archbishop of Chicago, and after the first Supreme Council was organized in Louisville, W. C. Smith was the first President and Newton J. Rogers, formerly widely known lawyer of the South and a native of Louisville, was the first Secretary. The memory of these men will be honored with special services at the close of the coming session.

Beginning with the arrival of the delegates there will be something doing in the way of Kentucky hospitality all the time. Through the courtesy of the Knights of Columbus the delegates and visitors will be guests Monday night at the smoker in honor of the State Council, which will convene Tuesday. Tuesday the programme will be very interesting. The Uniform Rank and members of the local branches will assemble at the Tyler Hotel at 8:30 and act as escort to the Supreme body in the procession that will march to the Cathedral. The opening session will of course be rather brief, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the delegates will be taken for an automobile ride around Louisville and a visit to various points of interest. As there will be no night session the visitors and their ladies will be guests at the reception and dance tendered the State Council by the Louisville Knights of Columbus at their home on Fourth avenue.

Wednesday morning and afternoon will be given over to business sessions, but in the evening there will be a theater party at Keith's, followed by a buffet luncheon and social gathering at the Tyler Hotel. For this the delegates will assemble in the lobby of the Tyler at 7:45, when they will form in procession and march to the theater.

Wednesday will be a busy day for the Supreme Council, as two long business sessions will be held. At 7 o'clock in the evening there will be a banquet in the Italian Garden of the Tyler, when a carefully prepared menu will be served, after which there will be a number of toasts and responses by able speakers. This will conclude the social features, which reflect credit on the members of the Executive Committee. There will be one more meeting at St. John's Hall, on Sunday afternoon, to which all Knights and lady members are especially invited.

The Knights of Columbus will be in session for two days, and the State Council will have present representatives from all parts of Kentucky. This order has had a very successful year and the reports will show a substantial increase in membership. Any new features that may develop will be made known in our next issue.

What the Club Plan Is AND What It Means to You

The Club Plan is an extended payment plan instituted purely and simply for the convenience of our patrons who wish to buy Household Goods, such as Furniture, Carpets, Rugs, etc.

When you join the Club Plan you are asked to pay 3 per cent. of the amount of your purchases for joining; for instance:

The membership fee on a $25.00 purchase would be 75c.

The membership fee on a $50.00 purchase would be $1.50.

The membership fee on greater purchases would of course be in proportion.

You are then asked to pay 10 per cent. of your total purchase as the first payment. For instance, on a $25.00 purchase you pay $2.50 down in addition to the membership fee, making a total of $3.25. The goods are then delivered to you and you arrange to pay the balance in small weekly or monthly payments.

When you consider that goods bought on the Club Plan are purchased at our cash prices—whether special or regular—you will more clearly see that our membership fee is nothing in comparison with the additional cost installment houses place on their goods for the privilege of time payments.

FURNITURE, CARPETS, RUGS, HOUSE FURNISHINGS AND OTHER HOUSEHOLD GOODS ARE SOLD ON THE CLUB PLAN.

Any further information regarding the Club Plan will be cheerfully given by our salespeople or at the Credit office on the fifth floor.

SPREAD OF ROSARY.

The general intention recommended by His Holiness Pope Benedict for the month of May is the spread of the Rosary. For many centuries in the church of God the Rosary has been a favorite devotion. The form of prayer is so simple and the prayers and meditations are so sublime that the popularity of the devotion is not surprising. It can be taught to the simple little child and it appeals to the most learned. By his recommendation our Holy Father shows his desire that the use of the Rosary should be even more widespread. The power of the Rosary has often been attested in the history of the church, as we learn from the letters of many Supreme Pontiffs, and every Catholic who says it daily has no doubt experienced the wonderful effects of our Lady's intercession in preserving her clients from evil of body and soul. Catholic parents should train their children from the earliest years to love the Rosary. It will be a strong protection for them throughout their lives. An additional motive for fidelity may be found in the numerous indulgences granted by the Holy See to those who carry and say the beads. They afford us frequent opportunity of blotting out our own temporal punishment and of helping the poor souls in purgatory.

THOUSANDS SEND GREETINGS.

Before sunset in Rome on Sunday evening Pope Benedict XV. had received more than 3,000 telegrams bringing Easter greetings besides innumerable letters, messages and addresses from all parts of the world, far surpassing the number received last year for the first Easter of his pontificate. The characteristic note of this world tribute is the expression of wishes for the success of his efforts for peace.

TIME TO KICK.

Six hundred bags of parcel post matter, comprising probably more than 50,000 packages mailed for distribution in Holland, are to be returned to the senders in America because the Dutch steamships will not carry this mail owing to the British seizure of parcel post consignments. The British authorities contend that the parcels might reach and benefit the central powers. This mail has accumulated in the foreign branch Postoffice in New York since November, 1915. The Postmaster General has ordered that the postage be refunded. The Washington Government should not allow England to force this expense and trouble upon our people without forceful protest.

MANY TURNED AWAY.

The two performances of the Holy Cross minstrels on Monday and Tuesday attracted audiences that taxed the capacity of the new Holy Cross Hall at Thirty-second and Broadway, and both nights people were turned away. In view of the heavy support given and demands made the performance will be repeated Sunday night. All the performers won great applause, and the girls in their one-act comedy scored a big hit. Rev. Father Celestine Brey, pastor of Holy Cross church, was complimented on all sides for being the possessor of a congregation containing such talented amateur performers, and also the committeemen whose persevering efforts assisted in making the affair so great a success. The proceeds of all the performances will go toward reducing the debt on the new school building.

BEER-DRINKING LITTLE SISTERS.

The bricklayers on various large jobs about San Francisco left their employment on April 6 and, led by President W. S. Boyle, journeyed to the home of the Little Sisters of the Poor on Lake street, where they repaired the walls damaged by the January storms. Some acted as hod-carriers and some laid brick, and at the end of the day the work was completed.

FONTAINE FERRY OPENING.

Fontaine Ferry will open its season on May 7. The park already is looking very attractive and when the work of painter and decorator is completed it will present an inviting appearance. Ernesto Nattello, the celebrated handmaster, will furnish the daily free hand concerts, and Prof. Jake Schilling will have charge of the music in the dance pavilion. "Billy" Paulsen will lead the orchestra in the theater.

ST. CHARLES EUCHRE.

A euchre and lotto will be given at St. Charles Borromeo Church Hall, Twenty-ninth and Chestnut streets, next Monday evening. The games to be called at 8:15 o'clock.

FOR PEACE DAY.

Graciously acceding to a petition that originated from a number of distinguished Spanish ladies, Pope Benedict has granted a plenary indulgence for a general communion throughout the world, accompanied by a prayer for the Holy Father's intention—an early peace—on the fifth day of May. Those who can not receive holy communion on that day are asked to say a decade of the rosary for this intention.

CLOTHING STORE ENLARGES.

The store of Cuning, Lewis & Brotzge, Third and Jefferson streets, dealers in men's clothing, is to be enlarged by taking in the second and third floors of the building. The ladies of St. Michael's parish will entertain their friends with a euchre and lotto party Monday afternoon and night at St. Michael's Hall, 220 South Brook street. They will award numerous handsome prizes and promise their friends a good time.

URGENT APPEAL.

The Catholic Church Extension Society has on file 145 urgent appeals for monstresses from mission priests. All these requests have come from towns where the need of furnishings for mission chapels is very great. The society therefore urges upon its kind friends consideration of this special request for monstresses. A monstresse may be obtained from the society for $24. By sending us this amount you may be the means of permitting the people of one mission chapel to attend benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament. Donations will be gratefully received by the Catholic Church Extension Society, McCormick building, Chicago.

SIXTY YEARS.

Old Niagara University, widely known as the Seminary and College of Our Lady of Angels, will this year celebrate the sixtieth anniversary of its foundation. This great Catholic educational institution has a glorious record. Old Niagara stands in with Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Cornell and others of the same class, and is recognized by the Department of Education of the Empire State as one of the leading institutions of the country. From her portals have gone forth many who have stood high in the religious and civic life of the country. While this institution of learning glories in her title of "Niagara University" and claims to impart all that this name conveys, she does not cast aside the designation of "Seminary and College of Our Lady of Angels." She rejoices in both, and combines both in one harmonious union for the betterment, intellectual and moral, of the youths entrusted to her care.

CROSS AND FLAG.

St. Joseph's church, Springfield, Ill., has a row window illuminated so that its design is shown forth at night. It has a Roman cross in the center, an American flag draped from an arm of the cross and a bunch of lilies, symbol of purity, on the other side of the cross. It hears the inscription, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's." The pastor, the Rev. P. J. O'Reilly, has been active in many patriotic and civic movements.

FOR WOMAN'S EYE.

After receiving holy communion in a body at St. Bridget's church the Hibernians of Minneapolis were tendered an excellent breakfast by Father Donaghue and the ladies of the parish.

TWIN CITY LEAGUE.

Rumor has it that the pulmotor was needed to revive Ed Early and Frank "Maggie" Coleman, the leaders of the Champs rooting corps, when their favorites were decisively beaten by the K. of C. team Sunday afternoon in the Twin City League, and to add insult to injury these two were told in advance by K. of C. supporters that the leaders were due for a fall, but refused to take the tip. The score was 5 to 3. Another surprise was the comeback of Manager Voor's Imperials, who beat the strong Orioles 7 to 4. Benny Middendorff's fine Italian hand is already seen in the improvement of Mackin Council's team, which beat Bertrand 8 to 6. Trinity showed improvement and gave the Olympics a close call, losing in a 6 to 4 game. Schedule for tomorrow: K. of C. vs. Trinity, Imperials vs. Bertrand, Champs vs. Olympics, and Mackin vs. Orioles.

CLINES HEADS COMEDY.

Thomas D. Clines is again at the head of the Mackin Council players in their new show, entitled "Tin Soldiers," the latest musical comedy by Aulyn E. Kanston. Mr. Clines has now been the leading man for the Mackin Council productions for a number of seasons, and he is again to have the major part in the new show. His long and varied experience has made him a finished actor, and his work is equal to that of many professionals. His versatile ability has been given special consideration in "Tin Soldiers," and he has been cast in a part which will exhibit his numerous talents to their fullest extent. Besides being a star actor he is an all around good fellow who numbers his friends by the thousands, who no doubt will present themselves in full force at the performance of "Tin Soldiers" to greet him in his latest role. Mr. Clines is Treasurer of the Mackin Council Choral Club, and it seems that he has a natural ability for handling money, for he is also the Treasurer of Jefferson county and the Twin City Baseball League. Incidentally he is the manager of the Knights of Columbus baseball team. The female part of the cast for "Tin Soldiers" has now been completed, and the new-comers are Miss Evelyn Johnson, of West Chestnut street, noted for her beauty and gracefulness, and Miss Nettie Penton, a popular young lady of Beaumont, who possesses an excellent voice, and is expected to make a real hit in the two songs especially written for her. Rehearsals are progressing nicely, interest continues to grow, and as the time draws near for the initial performance the management becomes more and more confident of a successful success. "Tin Soldiers" will be produced at Macaulay's Theater on May 15, 16 and 17.

BREWERS HERE.

The Louisville ball club's old rivals, Harry Clark's Milwaukee team, will begin a four-game series this afternoon and the strange faces on the team will surprise many of the fans. Devore and Thorpe, the former New York Giants' stars, are in the line-up, also Jay Kikie, the former fence buster of Toledo. The Colonels' remarkable showing thus far has attracted attention throughout the circuit and the newspaper critics who awarded the pennant to Minneapolis without a struggle are now beginning to hedge, some giving Louisville a chance for the flag. No one can even predict just now the outcome of the pennant race, as nearly every team is making changes daily, getting new material from the major leagues, and outside of Louisville and Minneapolis none of the teams have the same line-up as the ones announced for April 18, the opening day. One thing can be said, however, that if all of the teams had stood pat on their first announcements and Minneapolis was conceded to be our strongest opponent, then it is safe to say that Wathen's club would have romped away with the flag, as Louisville can trim Cantillon's club seven out of every ten games with the same rosters. Every fan in Louisville, and especially those only able to go on Sunday, should be out to give the boys encouragement before the start of their series away from home, beginning next Thursday.

ORDINATION.

Next month Gerald J. Connolly, who is studying for the priesthood at St. Mary's Seminary, Ellicott City, will be ordained in the Covington Cathedral, and will be the first priest to be ordained by Bishop Brossart. Before studying for the priesthood he was engaged in the practice of law in Cincinnati. Through his connection with the Y. M. I. years ago he made many friends in this city and throughout the State. Dr. John J. Connolly, of South Louisville, is his brother.

Tomorrow a new council will be instituted at Manhattan, Kas., and a joint initiation will take place at Emporia.

Union Council of Syracuse has purchased the Lynch residence on James street for $30,000, which will be used as a club house.

There is much activity in Colorado. There will soon be exemplifications at Durango and Pueblo, and a new council is planned for Antonito.

Since last Sunday the Knights of Milwaukee have been celebrating the dedication and opening of their $250,000 club house. It will close this afternoon with a reception and tea for the ladies.

The annual communion Sunday was the most largely attended ever held by the Knights of Portland, Ore. After mass the Knights, headed by Archbishop Christie, marched to the breakfast room, where they were served by the ladies of St. Philip's parish.

MICHAEL O'SULLIVAN.

City Building Inspector William J. O'Sullivan on Tuesday received the sad news of the death at Los Angeles of his venerable father, Michael O'Sullivan, for many years a widely known and respected resident of Louisville. Mr. O'Sullivan was born in County Clare, Ireland, eighty-seven years ago, coming to this country in 1833 with his mother, who located at Syracuse, N. Y., where he took great interest in Catholic church affairs, for a number of years being Superintendent of the Sunday-school at St. John's church in the old Fourth ward. The family moved to Louisville in 1869, the deceased engaging in the shoemaking business in a shop on Fifth street opposite the Cathedral, which soon became a gathering place for well educated men who discussed philosophy, literature, history and world politics. Twenty years ago his wife, who was Miss Ann Dwyer, also a native of County Clare, passed away. To them were born nine children, all of whom survive. They are the Rev. Hugh O'Sullivan, of Whitesville, and the Rev. Anthony O'Sullivan, of Mayfield, both of the diocese of Louisville; the Rev. St. John O'Sullivan, formerly of the diocese of Louisville, now of the mission at San Juan Capistrano, Cal.; Miss Lucy O'Sullivan, of Los Angeles; M. J. O'Sullivan, of Los Angeles; W. J. O'Sullivan, and Patrick O'Sullivan, of Louisville, and Frank and Joseph O'Sullivan, of Chicago. Several years ago Mr. O'Sullivan went to California, residing with his son, the Rev. St. John O'Sullivan, at the old mission of San Juan Capistrano until recently, when he went to the home of his son in Los Angeles, where his death was due to infirmities incident to old age. The remains are expected to arrive here tomorrow and the funeral will take place Monday morning from the Cathedral, after which the body will be laid to rest beside that of his wife in St. Louis cemetery. His life was well spent and when the summons called him he was fully prepared for the next life.

ST. LEO'S ENTERTAINMENT.

A grand entertainment will be given tomorrow and Monday evenings in St. Leo's Hall, Highland Park, for the benefit of the new school. The young men and young ladies, former pupils of St. Leo's school, will take part, assisted by the school children. Tickets of admission are twenty-five cents with reserved seats fifteen cents extra.

The proceeds of the entertainment will be donated to the school fund and Rev. Father J. J. Fitzgerald, the pastor, expects to announce the plans for the new school in the near future, the architect now making several corrections. After Monday the needs of St. Leo's parish will be attended to by one of the Dominican Fathers for several days, as Father Fitzgerald will be out of the city.

IMPOSSIBILITY.

In suggesting that it was time for adjournment the other night a local misjourner priest told the following: "A priest in one of our little country towns with quite a large flock to minister to was nearing the end of a long stream of penitents at confession late one Saturday evening when a man came in who stuttered badly. The tired and worn priest was about through with him after a long and patient hearing when the man started again. 'Fa-Fa-ther, I c-c-c-c-used fl-f-f-f-fly t-t-t-t-times.' Our clergyman friend could stand it no longer and said: 'Run on home my good man, you couldn't curse that much in fifty years.'"

MADE PROMISE GOOD.

John Driscoll, of Hampton, Va., is the last survivor of the old United States ship Monitor, conqueror of the Merrimac in the civil war. After the famous naval battle President Lincoln summoned the Monitor's crew to Washington and told them if anyone ever wanted a favor it would only be necessary to ask it. Driscoll, now seventy-six, never asked anything of the United States until recently, when he told the Navy Department a trip through the Panama canal on a warship before he died would make him happy. The promise will be made good and he will sail on the next ship to make the passage.
